SAQ Recertifications

Indigita e-Learning compliance courses are recognised by SAQ Swiss Association for Quality and allow client advisors to earn credits towards their professional recertification with the SAQ.

By obtaining the SAQ certificate, client advisors demonstrate that they have acquired the expertise and practical skills required to operate in their role. The SAQ certificate is considered a Swiss standard and remains valid for three years. After this period, client advisors can apply for recertification by completing a certain number of training hours to ensure their professional knowledge remains up to date. Thanks to the recognition by SAQ, a range of our popular e-Learning compliance courses is eligible to count towards recertification.
